To W. C. Tower.

Waiting by the Hedges

Song for Tenor or Soprano

By

G. W. MARSTON.

Boston: Arthur P. Schmidt & Co. 146 Tremont St.

Copyright 1879 by A. P. Schmidt.

WAITING BY THE HEDGES.

Words by Edith Kirkwood.

Music by G.W. Marston.

Andante.
PIANO.
1. I am wait-ing for you Ai-lie I'm wait-ing by the hedges, Where the
2. And Ai-lie, Ai-lie, Ai-lie, I think I hear her calling, While the haw-thorn bloom is dropping, And the ear-ly ros-es blow. The leng-thening evening shadows On the hills and valleys play. On mis-ty light is gathering On the hil-ly crags and led-ges. And fields and by the riv-er bank the dew of night is fall-ing. And

Copyright 1879 by A.P.Schmidt.

p yon - der in the cloud lined west the sun is sink - ing low. I'm ros - es send their per - fume out to meet her on her way. Hush, wait - ing for you Ai - lie, and the crescent moon is beaming. One hush I hear her foot - step now just where the woods are en - ded. The poco rall.
lit - tle star is shin - ing now all faint - ly thro' the blue. A air is full of sweetness as she comes my on - ly dear. And the poco rall.

espressivo

bird trills out her evening song. It mingles with my dreaming. And sweetness and the singing and the evenings light are blended. The cresc. con molto passione ev - en as I wait and dream, it seems to sing of you. And bird, the ros - es and the stars, are wait - ing with me here. The ev - - en as I wait and dream, it seems to sing of you.

bird, the ros - - es and the stars, are wait - - ing with me here.